50,000 Warplanes

The Americas Lean on Us

Let's Make This a Pay Day

Speaking at noon Thursday to a joint session of the congress, President Roosevelt outlined in bold words and bristling figures a national defense program calculated to enable the United States to defend the Western hemisphere against all comers. The world has seen neutral nations mowed down. The world has seen the warplane turn the tide of battle against older weapons. . . . Therefore Mr. Roosevelt proposes that the United States begin construction of what in time will become a fleet of 50,000 airplanes — and for this purpose he wants an emergency appropriation of $1,182,000,000 now.

Germans Advance on 110-Mile Line at Sedan, France

French Counter - Attacks Repelled by Invaders

A 7-DAY BATTLE

Thousands of Warplanes and Tanks Are Employed

BERLIN — (P) — The German forces attacked heavily Thursday along the 110-mile front from Antwerp to Sedan in the seventh day of the sustained drive which has already netted them all of the Netherlands except the province of Zeeland, half of Belgium, and a small section of France. The high command reported the Allies Wednesday "accepted the fight."

French City Taken? BERLIN — (P) — The German press reported Thursday night the German flag waved from the citadel of Longwy, France and the city has been occupied—but there was no confirmation from German headquarters. Longwy is in the northeastern corner of France.

in the Antwerp fortifications north-east of Brussels, and along the defense line from there south through central Belgium to Namur. French counter-attacks south of Sedan, it was said, were repelled while the Germans pressed their attack toward the Maginot line itself farther.

Invasion of Low Countries Held to Be Preview of War-Deciding Battle at End of the Maginot Line

Battle of Meuse Valley Analyzed by Thos. Johnson

Expert Estimates German Strength Only 29 Divisions

BUT DRIVE IS ON

Aim Is Bombardment of England, Capture of France

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer
Netherlands and Belgium may prove only a curtain-raiser to a tremendous battle now in the making farther east in the Meuse and Moselle Valleys.

The Germans appear to be using only 29 divisions in the low countries, scarcely more than those countries can oppose them with, even without Allied help.

The big parade of German mass attack may soon drive between the right of the British-French troops aiding the Belgians and the left of the strongest portion of the Maginot Line.

German capture of one of the Liege forts and the drive in behind the whole fortified region there, together with the capture of Malmédy, suggest that these are the regions to watch.

Luxembourg, easily taken without resistance, and the country north and south of it—the Liege region and the Moselle Valley—may soon be the scene of a greater battle than the spectacular drive for the Channel ports and air bases for raids on England.

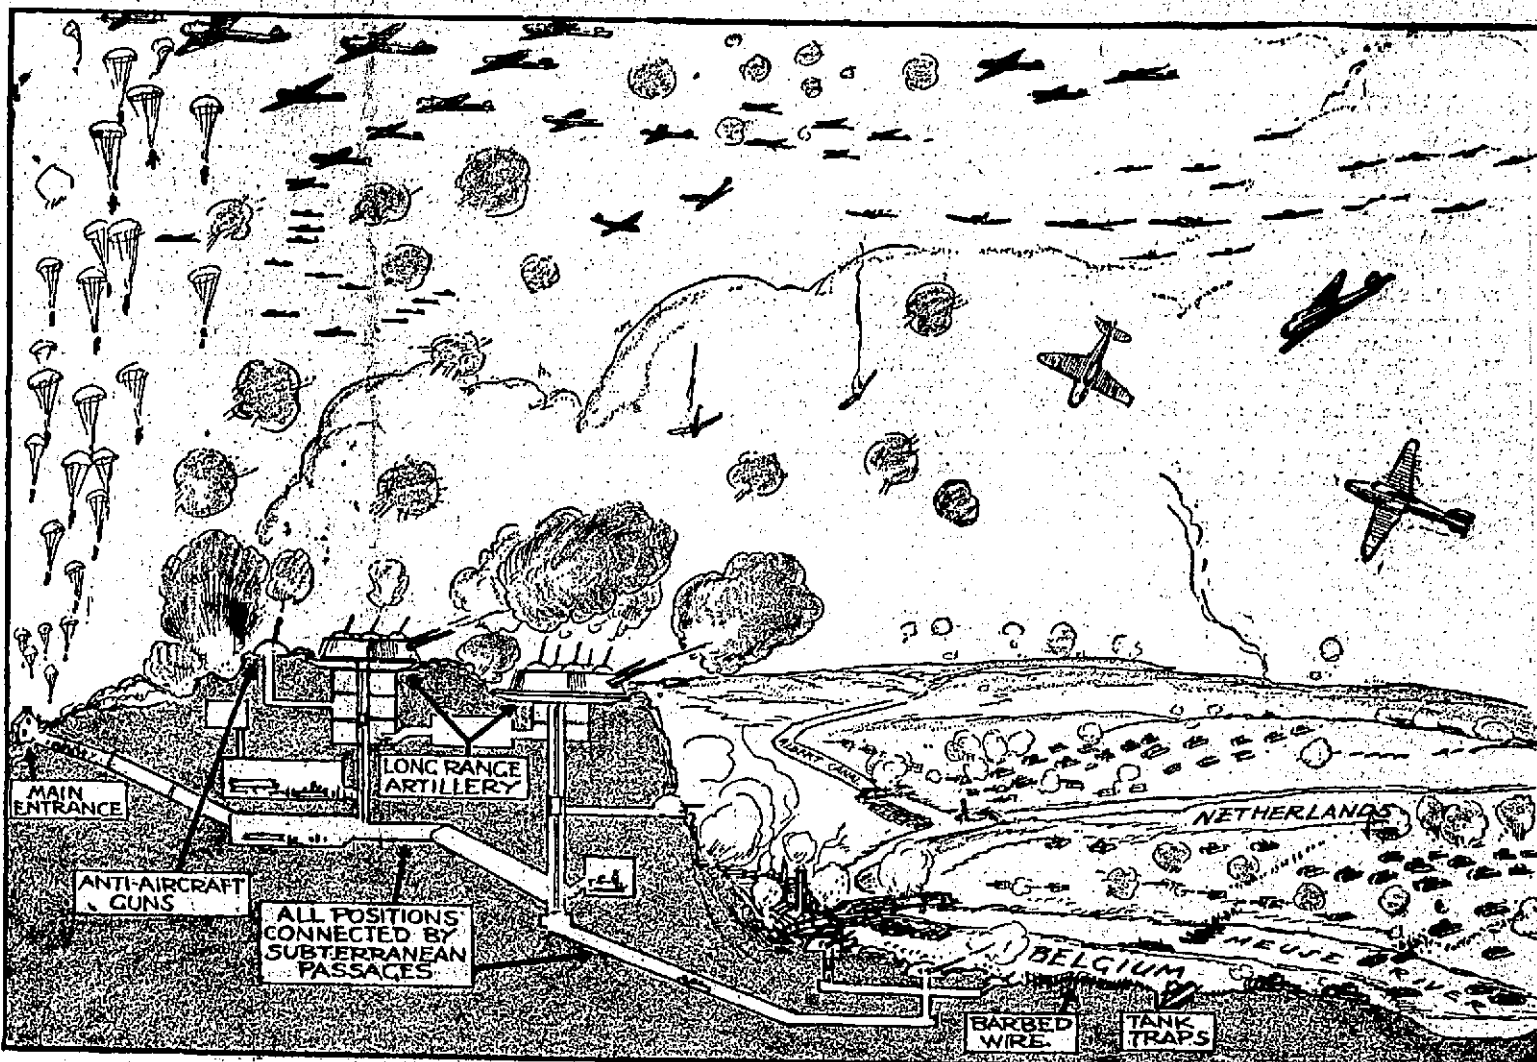

In the first scene of the first act, the melodramatic invasion of the Netherlands, the Nazis seem to have failed in their wild hope of complete conquest in 24 hours in the Oslo manner.

There are more hours to come, however, and it is still possible the German object here may be achieved. The object is, of course, to reach the Dutch coast, and establish there air and naval bases for an attack, perhaps an invasion, aimed directly at England.

This attempt, though in the long run not necessarily a failure, appears subsidiary to the effort against Belgium. Though the Belgian army is better and stronger than the Dutch, and her fortifications stronger, Belgium already seems harder hit.

The capture within 24 hours of part of the Belgian army.

NEA Artist Grissinger's sketch pictures the German storming of the Belgian fortress Eben Emael, covering the punction of the Albert canal and the Meuse river. Although the method used to take the great fort remained a mystery, it was planned in Berlin that a new means of attack had been employed, with air force its backbone. The sketch shows the Germans subjecting the fort to a tremendous aerial bombardment, landing parachute troops behind the fort, while motorized units, covered by artillery fire, forced the canal and river. The Germans called Eben Emael the strongest cornerstone in the Belgian extension of France's Maginot Line, said its quick capture "brings up the question as to the defense possibilities of the Maginot Line." The German reports described Eben Emael as consisting of a whole group of fortifications. "Its task is to prevent a crossing of a whole group of fortifications. . . . It is long range fire. . . . The main entrance is situated in the most protected by a hillside. An ordinary house camouflages the entrance. . . . The fighting strongholds consist of casement constructions some 35 feet wide and 30 feet long where long-range artillery is in position. . . . The entire fortification is surrounded by barbed wire entanglements and air raid defenses. Many tank traps consist of ditches 30 feet wide at the bottom and 60 feet wide on the surface. . . . The fort had a garrison of 120 men.

Visitors Week for WPA Sewing Club

Will Hold Openhouse From May 20 Through the 25

The county-wide WPA Sewing Club, located back of the new courthouse, supervised by Jett F. Bundy, will be open to visitors from the 20th to the 25th. The public may come Tuesday and Wednesday from 12 noon to 8:30 p. m., and Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 8:30 until 5:30 p. m. Saturday will be put aside for projects.

There are two reasons for sewing projects.

First: To give employment to needy persons—chiefly women who are able to perform the work assigned.

Second: To produce garments and articles for needy families, articles needed by local welfare agencies for free distribution to needy families and to tax supported institutions.

The work to be done must be such that the worker will give a fair return for the wage they receive and the articles made must be of the highest quality and produced at a reasonable cost.

On this project there are a variety of articles made, chiefly clothing for men, women and children, layettes for infants, household articles, surgical dressing, articles used on other WPA projects, and also renovating and repairing donated clothing.

Basically the project works from job orders furnished by the sponsoring agency. The articles produced are then turned over to the sponsor for distribution.

By the establishment and maintenance of this project a pay roll is brought to the community. This project is also operated on a cooperative basis.

Workers on this project are trained so they will be in a position to take private employment when offered.

Game Protective Body For Nevada

Plans are Drawn up at Rosston Monday Night

ROSSTON — The organization of the Nevada County Game and Fish Protective Association was completed at a meeting held at Rosston last Monday night. George Glesham of Waterloo was elected president of the new organization with E. L. Smith of Cale as vice-president, Roger N. Smith of Waterloo as secretary and T. M. Bemis of Prescott as treasurer.

By laws for the organization were presented and adopted and the membership dues were set at $1.00 per year. It was stressed that these dues were only applicable to members who actually fish and hunt.

Free cooperative memberships are offered to farmers or tenants who actually live on and work their land.

The board of directors, which is to be composed of the officers and chairmen of the various committees will hold meetings each three months and regular meetings of the membership will be held monthly. The next meeting will be held in Prescott Thursday, May 24, at the Court house at 8 p. m.

Committees set up were as follows: Membership, three members.

Law enforcement, one member from each of the 13 political townships in the county.

Progra, three members.

Members of these committees will be announced by the president at the next meeting.

Roosevelt Offers New Defense Plan to the Congress

Seeks Emergency Defense Fund of $1,182,000,000

TO DEFEND WEST

He Emphasizes U. S. Leadership of the Western World

WASHINGTON — (P) — An armada of 50,000 warplanes was advocated by President Roosevelt Thursday in a personally-delivered message to congress asking for a $1,182,000,000 emergency national defense program.

"Our ideal, our objective is still peace—peace at home, peace abroad," Roosevelt told a tense and solemn joint session of the senate and house. "Nevertheless, we stand ready not only to spend millions for defense but to give our services, even our lives, for the maintenance of American liberties."

Long Range Program

The huge warplane program was put forward by the chief executive as a long-range goal. His more immediate recommendations, Roosevelt said, are designed to give a national modern well-equipped army with industrial military resources capable of leading the defense of the Western Hemisphere in a world "lightning war."

The president broke his request down into $896,000,000 in immediate appropriations, of which the army would get $546,000,000, the navy and marine corps $250,000,000, and $100,000,000 would be at his disposal to provide for emergencies affecting national security and defense.

Ominous Days

"These are ominous days," he said at the outset of his message, "days whose swift, shocking developments force every neutral nation to look to its defenses in the light of new factors."

The brutal force of modern offensives, he asked congress "not to take any action which in any way will hamper or delay the delivery of American-made planes to foreign nations which have ordered them."

Record Project to Hold Open-House

Visiting Week at Courthouse Planned by WPA Unit

W. R. Pruitt, unit supervisor, has announced a visiting week, May 20 through May 25, at the Works Progress Administration's county project to cross-index all the deed and mortgage records of Hempstead county of which he is in charge. This WPA project is located on the fourth floor of the new courthouse.

The public is invited to visit the project any day during the next week and learn something of the value of this project to the county.

Work of cross-indexing these records, which pertain to all land titles in the county, was started in December, 1938, under the direction of Mr. Pruitt. Both a direct and an indirect index has been set up, and they will soon be available for use of the public in the office of the circuit clerk and recorder.

CHAPTER I

LARRY COLLINS smiled down at the baldish man across the desk. "All right, Steve. . . . So I'm nuts. But that doesn't change things. I'm quitting your newspaper tonight."

"Okay, Larry, I can't stop you." Steve Clark's voice softened. "But you're a swell reporter, and I like you. If I didn't, I wouldn't waste five minutes trying to keep you from making a fool of yourself."

"You need a vacation! So do I! So does everyone. But you don't see Steve Clark quitting the job with the grand jury blowing the top off the city hall. And conventions, campaigns, and elections coming up." Steve's temper was getting away from him. "All right, Collins, take a vacation! But when you're broke and looking for a job, don't come back to Steve Clark. I made you, and by the eternal, I can make another cub reporter into just as good a man."

"Just a minute, Steve. Let's part friends." Collins sat down on the corner of the desk, rolled a cigarette, lighted it, and inhaled deeply before he continued. "That vacation talk is office gossip. I spread it around as an excuse. I'm not quitting now because I want to, Steve—and you have to believe that—I've got a job to do, and it won't wait. I have to quit, Steve."

"You mean you're leaving me to work for someone else? Of all the ungrateful puppi!" Clark exploded. "Get out! Get your pay and get out!"

Collins did not move. He had

Untangled Entanglements
Lots of people are worrying about whether American "economic involvement" in Europe's war isn't going to get us into that war. The idea is that if American business revival gets depending too heavily on war business, if too close ties are riveted between American producers and European consumers on one side in the war, maybe this will lead the United States into joining that side.
The isn't so simple. In the first place, during the war of 1814-18, the big money was made while the United States was neutral, not after it declared war. Further, almost all responsible business leaders in the country have steadfastly declared that they do not want the United States to get involved in the war.
Business pressure in 1940-41 is not likely to lead in this direction, therefore.
But even more important is the fact that there is no war boom.
The war is different. Instead of the frantic scrambling for any and all kinds of raw and manufactured goods at any prices, the allies are playing their cards very close to the vest. They are buying nothing in the United States that can possibly be brought within the empire or from countries they consider real or potential allies. They are conserving their cash, co-ordinating purchases, calling their shots.
Nevertheless, the spectacular sales of airplanes and similar war supplies have persuaded many people that we are having a war boom.
Are we? Both sides of the balance-sheet must be looked at.
Against profitable airplane and finished war goods trade must be set off a monthly loss to American farmers, excepting only the cotton growers, of $10,000,000 a month. A sharp rise in cotton exports held the total of farm exports fairly level, but the export of other farm products fell more than 20 per cent in the first six months of war. Tobacco sales dropped almost 70 per cent; wheat, 70 per cent; corn, 70 per cent; fruit,
38 per cent.
Department of Agriculture experts expect even the demand to fall. Germany, Poland, Danzig, Czechoslovakia, the Scandinavian countries, Holland, and Belgium have been cut off from our trade. The whole Mediterranean may soon be closed. Civilian consumption has been cut in all countries. We have gained a war trade, but lost much of our normal peace trade.
Whether war has been a boom-stim-ulator in the past is a question. Today it is not war only interrupts, curtains, and ruins normal intercourse between the nations of the world, neutral as well as belligerent.
A "war boom" going to get us into the war? Show us the boom first.

Fragments to Individuals
The sea-anemone is an animal that resembles a plant. As it moves, parts of its broad "foot" adhere to the surface of rocks and are torn off, and the fragments grow into complete new anemones.
There is no foundation for the belief that there is hot lightning and cold lightning, and that the latter will

WE THE WOMEN
By RUTH MILLETT
"We can't keep out."
Every day more Americans join the defeatist ranks.
Some base their gloomy prediction on honest thinking. But most say it with a shrug, simply as the knowing, wise thing to say.
"We can't keep out" is fast becoming the American theme song.
And then we wonder at the Germans, who, we say, refuse to think for themselves, who can be led sheep-like by any ruler willing to make their decisions and do their thinking for them.
Who is doing our thinking for us?
We aren't. We don't want any part of war, and yet we are getting ourselves in a state of resignagtion where we can easily be led to anything.
Aren't we becoming as weak-willed as the German people? It is too much trouble, too much responsibility for us to say, "We are citizens of a democracy, and if we get into a war it is the fault of every one of us." If there is a war for us, it won't be "we couldn't stay out" but "we didn't stay out."
De Firm Against Defeatism
That is something for us women to remember. We have few important government posts. We aren't as active politically as we should be.
But without any change in our position, we can assume a responsibility as citizens for whatever is to happen to our country. Today we can decide that we will not join the defeatist ranks.
And if we have already joined, we can desert.
Not once will we say—even in the privacy of our homes—"We can't keep out."

Fortified
So long has the curious bamboo crab kept itself tucked back into the hollow stalks of bamboo that its hinder portions are imperfectly developed.
But any enemy that tries to invade the sacred domain is met with a pair of bristling claws at the open end of the stalk.
Still a Puzzle
Whether there is life on other planets of our own solar system we can only guess. We do know that any life there would be different from our own, because, in most cases, conditions are so very different.

er to the southwest to take into their hands more of the strip between the rival fortified lines.

Battle of the Meuse

PARIS —(P)—Thousands of warplanes and tanks clashed in an unprecedented battle movement along the Meuse front Thursday, involving a situation so serious and confused that the high command withheld all but the barest details.

A general melee ensued from Namur south of Sedan in northern France—scene of the fiercest German attacks—with armored units from either side cutting loose from the infantry, and plunging boldly forward to strike the enemy from the rear.

King Leopold

LONDON —(P)—King Leopold was heard Thursday calling by radio on the men of the "forts of Liege" to "resist to the utmost for the fatherland."

"I address you, Col. Modard, commander, officers, non-commissioned officers and men to resist to the utmost for the fatherland. I am proud of you."

The monarch's address was read over the Brussels radio.

French Confident

PARIS —(P)—Premier Reynaud told a cheering chamber of Deputies Thursday France will be victorious against Germany which is throwing her all into one desperate push to the West.

"When all can seem lost," Reynaud declared, "the world will see what France is capable of."

He recalled that Germany declared she is going to win the war in two months.

Germans Break Through

PARIS —(P)—German tanks tore gaps in the Allied positions on the Meuse Wednesday after crossing the river at three points along the 50-mile front from Namur, Belgium to Sedan in northern France.

The Germans shifted their assaults to this sector after meeting strong French counter-attacks in the Sedan region just to the south, and were reported to have "penetrated to the interior of the French dispositions."

"In the face of the serious new situation, the French command has abandoned the war of position and begun a war of movement," a War Ministry spokesman said. "The high command has re-grouped and launched counter-attacks, which are now underway."

French Take the Field

The change from stationary to mobile warfare meant that the French had decided to abandon their prepared fortifications and fight the battle of the Meuse in the field. The sector in which the Germans broke through was defended by a line of concrete pill-boxes built along the Belgian border as a northwesterly extension of the Maginot line.

German tanks and planes advanced deep into this field of fortifications, defying French machine-gun fire.

French general headquarters at 6 p. m. said: "A general melee of French and German infantry, tanks and aviation is taking place. The situation appears confused."

Infantry Follows Tanks

Reichswehr infantry tried to follow the tanks through the French lines north of Sedan, but the French troops held their ground at first. Once the tanks got through the French lines, however, they spread out in all directions, threatening the French positions from the rear. Then some French units had to retreat.

Both in the Sedan sector and along the Meuse to the north, the German assaults continued despite French counter-attacks with tanks and planes.

every government. But we are a young nation—and we want to live as long as possible.

We have spent, these last 10 years, on one "emergency" or another, enough money to have taken our troops over to Europe and whipped Germany.

And yet today finds us, as our own president says, not adequately prepared to defend even our own and our neighbors' shores.

This is a grim warning against the financial road we have been traveling.

Let us resolve this day to demand of our congressmen and senators that the proposed defense appropriation be raised by taxation instead of added debt.

It is a chance to mend our ways; for the people will recognize this as a genuine emergency, and will pay for it—now.

Certainly you can not expect tomorrow's children to pay for this generation's protection.

Steve Clark's rage for 10 years ago, Steve, I've never told you, but if you know now, perhaps you'll understand why I'm quitting.

"I was a green kid, and, like you say, you made me a negotiator. My life, as far as you were concerned, dated from the time I walked into your office. You knew I'd been to school, that I could write. But you didn't know I was an orphan, and you didn't know I had a brother.

"You see, Steve, I was born in Texas. Mother died then. My dad raised Hugh and me. Dad was a sheriff. One day he tried to stop some bandits and they killed him. Dad's sister took Hugh, who was about 16, and they shipped me up here to live with Mother's brother.

"Remember that wire story out of the southwest about three months ago about an unidentified dead man had driven off a cliff, then killed himself when his car caught fire, rather than burn to death?"

Clark nodded. "Yeah. Never had anything but the first lead on it."

"That was my brother—Hugh Collins!"

ALL of Steve Clark's anger and resentment were gone as his arm went around Larry's shoulder. "I'm sorry, son, I didn't know. When did you find out?"

"I've known it all the time. Hugh was in the highway patrol. Shortly before his death, he was taken from his old district, secretly assigned to hunt down a bunch of narcotic smugglers, operating in the west. He evidently found them and they discovered who he was about the same time.

"But Hugh didn't commit suicide. Hugh was murdered!"

"Colonel Harris, chief of the highway patrol, asked Hugh's widow and myself to keep quiet, and Hugh was reported killed in a skirmish with smugglers on the border. The officers figured if they let the accident go practically uninvestigated, these drug smugglers would start up operations again."

"And that's what they've done, and you want to go down and cover it?" Clark broke in.

"That's right," Larry agreed. "I had a letter from the chief yesterday. He said that reports indicate that the same gang is at work again. He believes that a stranger might have more luck finding out about them than one of his own men. I wired him that I'd report within a week, and it's been a week, and I'd do my best to get the men who killed my brother."

"So you see, Steve, I've got to go," Larry said.

"I understand, Larry. I can arrange it. You'll be on assignment. And when you come back, your job will be waiting for you. Good luck, boy!"

SPRING in the southwest. Nothing like it, thought Larry Collins as he drove along the broad highway. Cattle grazing in green pastures. Calves, bawling. Here and there the broad green waves of wheat. It was good to be home.

Four days of steady driving had changed his city pallor to a healthy red. In a few more days even Steve Clark would never recognize him.

A barricade across the highway loomed before him. Larry slammed on his brakes, slid to a screeching stop. A blue-coated patrol officer stepped from the side of the road, gun in hand.

"Step out, with your hands up," he commanded.

Larry shut off his motor, climbed out of his car, hands in the air. Another officer covered him from the far side of the patrol car. The first patrolman came up to Larry, searched him quickly, then inspected his car.

"Okay," he called after a minute. And to Larry: "Let's have a look at your license."

"I'm on the steering post," Larry said. "May I ask, what is this all about?"

"The patrolman returned to him. 'You're all right. You can go on now. There's been a holdup, and we're stopping all cars. Sorry to have bothered you, but we have to do it.'"

Robertson Heads Hempstead League

Softball Meeting Friday Night at City Hall

Fred Robertson, Supervisor of Hope Recreation Section, announced that Mr. Erick had requested him to take charge of the softball league here, and have Raymond Urban continue as umpire.

Robertson announced that Bruner Ivory and City Bakery would play Thursday night if weather permits and that all games would be cancelled for Friday night in order to have a meeting of managers and interested persons. This meeting will be held at the City Hall at 7:45 o'clock for the purpose of electing new officers or the league. Also those who are interested in the white-collared teams are requested to attend the meeting.

It is hoped that more people will become interested in softball and lend more support to those who have teams and are trying to make them go. Through the right organization and with such a large number of people wanting some form of exercise we should be able to have one of the most efficient leagues in the southwest.

Raymond Urban is still in charge of the Hempstead Girls' Team and Robertson is making an effort to make the competition keener.

Through the courtesy and co-operation of The Star we hope to have a good softball league and make it a part of the people.

It has been estimated that approximately one-half of the fishermen of the world are Japanese.

"Anything I can do to help?" The man's head came up. "Why, sure, thanks. You can take me down the road and find a mechanic. Just a minute."

As the man turned back to the car, Larry noticed a second man get out of the front seat, walk around the car toward him—and for the second time in one day Larry Collins looked into the barrel of a revolver.

"Thanks, buddy," said the second man. "We'll take your car, but we'll have to leave you. Come on, climb out." He waved the gun to emphasize his order. "Come on, Bill, get that stuff into this car."

The man called Bill lost all his friendliness. He shoved past Larry, carrying a heavy suitcase, tossed it into Larry's car, then climbed behind the wheel.

The man with the gun backed toward the roadster. "The lady'll keep you company, buddy. Be smart now, and you won't get hurt. Thanks, Missus, for gettin' us by the cops."

Larry cursed softly as he watched his car disappear down the highway.

Most Presidential Candidates are Sports-men

AP Feature Service
WASHINGTON — Big Jim Farley has more of a sports background than any of the other presidential candidates.
For eight years before he came to Washington with FDR Farley was chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, which regulates boxing and wrestling. He knows most of the ring champions.
Farley says he can't remember when he missed a championship prize fight or a Kentucky Derby. He's a baseball enthusiast, too, and was some pumpkins as a player in his youth, the finest first baseman Haverstraw, N. Y., ever had. Nowadays he contents himself with an occasional swim or golf game.
Tom Dewey, youngest of those who would be President, bowls, golfs and plays tennis. He won't win any prize but plays a fair week-end brand of golf and tennis.

Summer, for Burton K. Wheeler, means golden hours of trout fishing in Montana's Glacier National Park. When here he frequently plays nine holes of golf before breakfast with "the side kick," as he calls his wife. Like the others Wheeler is a baseball fan. He once recommended a rookie to the Senators. Kid didn't stick.
John Nance Garner was quite a baseball player back in the old days. He says the Texas league was named after him because he hit so many short safe pops out over the infield. He's still possibly the No. 1 Washington fan. Hank Bonura is his favorite player. Garner hunts and fishes every year.
Arthur Vandenberg likes to play croquet, swim and fish.
Yachting and golfing interest Frank Gannett. He plays a pretty fair game on the links.
Paul V. McNutt is another member of the golfing fraternity and has been known to play softball on occasion.
Sports don't interest Cordell Hull very much. He occasionally indulges in golf and croquet. Golf is the major sport for Robert A. Taft.
Franklin Roosevelt, who may or may not run again, is fond of deep sea fishing. He likes other sports but rarely goes to games. Every spring, though, he officially opens the baseball season by tossing out the first ball at Washington's inaugural.
Joe Martin is a baseball fan.

Strides for Germany Since Hitler Came to Power

AP Feature Service
A Nazi marching song predicts that "tomorrow" the Nazis will control the world. The Germans may never control the whole world; but since Hitler came to power in January, 1933, they have taken fantastic strides. Here's the record of the past seven years:
From 1919 to 1933 Germany's territory in Europe was 180,801 square miles. The post-World War Treaty of Versailles had reduced it from 208,780. And 1,000,000 square miles of colonies had been taken from Germany.
In 1938 Germany annexed Austria, thereby acquired 32,639 square miles and 6,769,000 persons. Previously, by plebiscite, she had got back the tiny, coal-mining Saar.
In March, 1939, German soldiers completed the subjugation of Czechoslovakia. This gave the Nazis jurisdiction over 13,500,000 more persons and about 50,000 square miles. Border regions (the Sudetenland) were given Hitler at Munich in September, 1938.
In September 1939, Germany overran Poland. Question that set off World War II: What would be done

Nashville Belts 3 L. R. Pitchers for 19 Hits

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Belting three pitchers for 19 hits, the league-leading Nashville Vols outslugged the Little Rock Travelers, 18 to 7, in the second game of the series Wednesday night. It squared the set as the Travelers won the opener last night.
Cotton Brazle, who started for the Travelers, was knocked out in the third inning. Bob Katz, his successor, who was rapped, equally as hard, retired for a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Marvin Ulrich was slugged for five runs in the eighth.
Rogers Wins for Vols.
"Lefty Lee" Rogers, who makes his home in Little Rock and who pitched for the Travelers in 1937, went the route for the Vols. He was nicked for 14 hits but could afford to coast from the third inning. Leroy Schalk got our hits for the Travelers.

with Danzig? Hitler seized it, and half of Poland. When he took office he ruled 65 million people; now he is head man for 110 million.
In the spring of 1940, Hitler, having annexed 150,000 square miles, (1) occupied Denmark at Versailles; he got Schleswig-Holstein from Germany; (2) sent his army into Norway; (3) attacked Holland and (4) attacked Belgium (she got European-Medley from Germany at Versailles.)

Named Death Car Will Again Race

The Black Hawk Will Race at Indianapolis

By HAROLD HARRISON
AP Feature Service
INDIANAPOLIS — The $100,000 Black Hawk in which Frank Lockhart crashed to his death twelve years ago will run again in the Indianapolis speedway classic.
When the 500-mile race is run May 30, Lockhart's 16-cylinder motor—it develops 450 horse-power at 7,000 revolutions per minute—will be churning at speed under a new streamlined chassis. The revised car bears much resemblance to the racer in which Lockhart died on April 23, 1928, in an attempt to set a new world's speed record at Daytona Beach, Fla.
At that time Lockhart was half

Geo. W. Garrett, Educator, Is Dead

Was a Former State Senator From Clark County

ARKADELPHIA — George W. Garrett, 69, former state senator and Clark county educator, died at his home in Okolona Tuesday night. He was born in Okolona July 4, 1870, a son of Manell and Matilda Street Garrett. He attended Ousatcha College and Leland Stanford University, Palo Alto, Cal., where he received a degree in law. He married Miss Phenie Stubbfield, who survives.
In 1898 he was appointed by President McKinley to classify mineral land in the Northwest. Before returning to Okolona, he was associated with his brother, R. N. Garrett of El Dorado, and the late J. S. Cargille of Arkadelphia in the South Arkansas Lumber Company in Louisiana. Later he entered the mercantile business in Okolona. He served in the state Senate from 1914 to 1918, and was oil inspector during the administration of Governor Charles H. Brough. From 1920 to 1928 he was superintendent of schools at Okolona and later county superintendent of schools until that office was abolished. He was head of the Resettlement Administration for two years.
He is survived also by a daughter, Mrs. Reuben Hopkins of Henderson, Tex., three sons R. C. of Christobal, Canal Zone; George M. chief commissary steward of the U. S. S. Mayport, Boston, Mass., and Paul B. Garrett, postmaster at Okolona, and his brother.

Transfer of Civil Aviation Okehed

Department of Commerce to Get It as of June 10

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt's plan for reorganizing the Civil Aeronautics Authority won senate approval Tuesday 46 to 34, clearing the way for it to become effective June 10.

Proponents contended it would make for more efficient regulation of the airways and eliminate friction with the CAA. Opponents argued it would destroy the independence of the agency and subject it to "political influence."

The vote came on a resolution, passed by the House, to disapprove the president's plan. Unless both houses pass such a resolution reorganization orders go into effect automatically after they have been before Congress 60 days. If Congress should adjourn before June 10, the reorganization would not take effect until 60 days after the next session opens.

Senators La Follette (Prog., Wis.) and Norris (Ind. Neb.) joined 44 Democrats in supporting the president's plan. In opposition were 20 Republicans, two Farmer-Laborites and 12 Democrats.

Most of the controversy centered on that portion of the plan which would transfer the CAA to the Commerce Department and abolish the present Air Safety Board, but other departmental transfers are involved.

The Weather Bureau will be shifted from the Agriculture Department to the Commerce Department; certain functions of the Soil Conservation Service will be transferred from the Agriculture to the Interior Department and the Maritime Commission instead of the navy will have jurisdiction over merchant marine training schools.

"Stand-Up" Supper

The buffet supper was invented by Ude, celebrated chef of the time of Louis XVI of France. Women of the period often would forego refreshments rather than ruin crinolined, starched and frilled dresses by sitting down, so Ude conceived the idea of the "stand-up" supper.
